What does Girls Go CyberStart do?

There is a huge shortage of cybersecurity experts in the United States. To bridge this gap, Girls Go CyberStart's mission is to give high school girls the chance to discover whether they have an aptitude for computer science and cybersecurity through a fun, free and interactive online program full of digital challenges. Through Girls Go CyberStart, students can explore exciting career opportunities in the field, join the global cybersecurity community, and learn the techniques they need to keep our country safe online.

Play as a school team or as an individual

Girls can take part in Girls Go CyberStart even if they don't have a school club to join! Simply sign up as an individual - you can complete the whole program on your own and win cash prizes throughout.
